

Train-the-Trainer for Ticks and Mosquitoes

Bridgton Community Center
15 Depot St, Bridgton, ME 04009
Friday, January 25th, 2019
11:00 – 1:30pm

What is it?

- A free of charge workshop training session presented by the Maine CDC about preventing mosquito and tickborne diseases.
- Our goal is to equip you with a set of videos and tools which you can use to increase awareness about these diseases to others in your community.
- We will go through the videos as a group and talk about the important points from each video, followed by questions and answers.
- After the course, participants will each receive a certificate and a tick kit.

Who is it for?

Local health officers, safety officers, teachers, nurses, librarians, scout leaders, and anyone who works with the public as a group leader.

How do I sign up?

- Seating is limited and registration is required. Please sign up by going to this webpage:
<http://www.maine.gov/dhhs/mecdc/infectious-disease/epi/vector-borne/train-trainer/index.shtml>, and select the Bridgton location and date.
