Daily Construction Update for Friday, September 6, 2019

One new catch basin and a drain manhole were installed today as part of the storm drainage system upgrades across the street from the Rufus Porter museum

Next week there will be storm drain construction in front of the Ruby Food restaurant and the Magic Lantern. The sidewalks and a few parking spaces will be closed in both of these areas during the construction, but will reopen at the end of the day. Temporary paving will go down on the areas of the road that were dug up.

The contractor will continue to install storm drainage upgrades throughout Main Street next week. We will continue to update as the work progresses and we learn more about the detailed schedule.
